to old Mass'chusetts, we add this the Index of 1910 to the ever increasing list of achievements of her sons.

The Editors.

We the members of the Class of 1910, in token of our appreciation of his many virtues and manly character, affectionately dedicate this volume

to

Philip Bevier Hashrouck

Philip Bevier Hasbrouck

HE name of the one to whom this volume is dedicated, at once suggests a long line of European ancestry of social rank and influence. The surname is common in northern France, about Calais, whence came Abraham Hasbrouck, a refugee, to find religious freedom in America. It was in the latter half of the seventeenth century that he, with others similarly persecuted, came to America to build for themselves homes in a land of freedom. They settled in New York state, and from then until now in the section where this pioneer Hasbrouck built his home, the name has been a prominent one among the inhabitants.

That this early pioneer possessed the qualities of leadership is indicated by the fact that he was called to participate in the affairs of the government as a member of Governor Andros's staff.

The middle name, Bevier, came to Professor Hasbrouck through his paternal ancestry, by marriage with the family of that name, made famous through Colonel Bevier, who fought with the Americans at the siege of Ouebec.

The early ancestry on the maternal side traces back to Louis Du Bois, the Walloon, a pioneer settler of the Wallkill valley in New York. In France and Flanders there were many noted men of this family, famous as surgeons, statesmen and historians.

It was largely through the influence of Abraham Hasbrouck, of Governor Andros's staff, that the English crown was induced to grant lands to the early settlers of Wallkill valley. Parts of these early grants still remain in the possession of the descendants of those to whom the original allotments were made.

Barnes gives us an idea of the character of the Huguenot retugees who early settled in this country, when he says of them: "Their severe morality, marked charity, elegant manners and thrifty habits, made them a desirable acquisition. They brought the mulberry and olive, and established magnificent plantations on the banks of the Cooper. They also introduced many choice varieties of pears, which still bear illustrious Huguenot names. Their descendants are eminently honorable, and have borne a proud part in the establishment of our Republic. Of seven presidents who were at the head of the Congress of Philadelphia during the Revolution, three were of Huguenot parentage."

Such were the predominant characteristics of the people from whom the subject of this brief biographical sketch has inherited those sterling qualities of character that have made him such an efficient worker in M. A. C., for the past thirteen years. It is these inherited qualities, fostered and improved by a healthy environment and a right course of living, that have developed the man whose life and work among us for so many years has endeared him to all who have come in contact with him, as students, associates on the faculty, or in other lines of college activities.

Philip Bevier Hasbrouck was born in Libertyville, Ulster County, New York, in 1870. He prepared for college at the New Paltz Normal School, and was admitted to Rutgers College, New Brunswick, N. J., in the fall of 1889. Early in his college course he developed a fondness for mathematical work, in which he specialized later, taking courses in mathematics, physics and civil engineering. At the completion of his college course he received the degree of B. Sc. Soon after graduating from Rutgers he accepted a position as secretary to the Director of the Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station, a position he retained until 1895, when he accepted a call to M. A. C., as Assistant Professor of Mathematics. In recognition of his services and ability as a teacher, he has been promoted to Associate Professor of Mathematics and Adjunct Professor of Physics. In June, 1905, he assumed the duties of Registrar, succeeding his classmate and colleague, Professor Lull.

By reason of the work that has fallen to his lot in his capacity as teacher, registrar, and a member of the faculty committee on entrance, he has secured a more intimate acquaintance with the undergraduates than any of his associates on the faculty. His relation to the students during their first years at M. A. C., and his personal interest in every one of them, has resulted in his being selected by many men in college as an adviser regarding their college and personal affairs. In the capacity of personal adviser, confidant and teacher he has had frequent opportunity to impress upon those with whom he has thus come in contact, the marks of his character that make for the growth of the true college man and the development of a genuine college spirit. This intercourse between teacher and student has served to magnify in him those innate qualities of consideration, generosity, frankness and loyalty.

By every one who has been associated with him either as student or colleague, he is held in high esteem as an earnest student, faithful teacher and friend.

Kenyon Leech Butterfield

T was on a farm near the outskirts of the village of Lapeer, Lapeer County, Michigan, that our President first saw the light of day, June 11th, 1868. His early life was one of intense activity. He was always striving how to do the many duties incident to the lot of a boy on the farm by a shorter method or by increasing the effectiveness of such work. He was the same in his school work and easily kept the first place in his classes by this indomitable desire to push ahead.

In 1886 he entered the Michigan Agricultural College, and while obliged to drop out the next year on account of lack of funds, he returned the following year and graduated with the highest honors in 1891. While in college we see this same masterful desire to push on, to accomplish, to secure the highest return for his endeavor. During his Junior and Senior years he won first place in the intersociety oratorical context. Upon his graduation he was offered an instructorship in the English Department of his Alma Mater, but declined on account of not desiring to make teaching his life work. He accepted, however, and held the position of Assistant Secretary for one year, resigning to accept the editorship of the Michigan Grange Visitor, which he held until that paper was merged into the Michigan Farmer in 1895.

It was in this year that the Michigan State Board of Agriculture, recognizing the value of educational work among the farmers, appointed him Superintendent of Farmers' Institutes, and the next year, College Field Agent. At this time farmers' institutes were not thoroughly understood, and had received no national recognition. To bring them out from the chaotic condition in which they were then to an established and recognized place in rural society required the ability of a man with strong powers of organization.

In 1899 Supt. Butterfield gave up this position and in 1900 took up graduate work at the university of Michigan, taking his Masters degree in 1902. He was then appointed instructor in Rural Sociology, which position he held until his election to the Presidency of the Rhode Island College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts in 1903. It was here that his work attracted the attention of the Hon. Carroll D. Wright, head of the department of Economics and Sociology in the Carnegie Institution at Washington, who appointed him to prepare an economic history of agriculture in the United States; this work is still in preparation.

Among his many published addresses we notice: Social Problems of the American Farmer, delivered at the Congress of Arts and Sciences, World's Fair, St. Louis; Social Phase of Agricultural Education, read before the Association of American Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations at Des Moines, Ia. His book, Chapters on Rural Progress, was published in 1907.

The latest public recognition of his eminent services in the cause of agricultural progress, is his appointment by President Roosevelt to the Commission on Country Life.

In 1906 President Butterfield accepted the Presidency of the Massachusetts Agricultural College. His work here has been steadily progressive. With his contagious enthusiasm and wide experience, the College looks forward to a future of ever increasing usefulness.

The Senior Class

Senior History

GAIN as the days grow shorter and the cooling, autumn breezes scatter the fair-hued foliage, the class of 1909 returns for its last year at M. A. C. Once more the campus rings with the shout of familiar voices, and the hills reecho the cheers of "Oughty-Nine."

But how different the scene from that of our Freshman autumn! Now it is as staid Seniors that we greet you; as tried and loyal comrades that we cluster together to carry to a successful finish the short For the last time as under-graduates we present to you our class year that remains. history.

It is not necessary to devote much attention to our Freshman and Sophomore years. Those historic details have not only been recorded in the "Index," but have left their impress upon those with whom we were brought in close relation.

As Freshmen we met a strong Sophomore class, and the hazing parties at which we assisted were neither slight nor few. We profited by these experiences, and ere the year was over we were able even to "better the instruction." As Sophomores we did our duty and passed through a successful, triumphant year.

We expected, when we reached our Junior year, to settle down to a quiet life, but found the task of coaching a large Freshman class not an easy one. However they responded nobly to our teaching. During the first few months our "Index" occupied our time, and we cheerfully leave to its readers the question of its merits.

The weeks dodged by, and soon we were chasing Coleoptera or searching Sunderland and Hadley for outcrops. Meanwhile the matter of track athletics was brought up, and '09 responded heartily to the cry of contest. The same persistent pluck, which has helped us so often, carried us again to victory. That, of course, needed a celebration, and 1911 deserves our thanks for the excellent banquet which they tendered us. Hartford was a jolly city that night and our Junior Banquet was another strong rivet in the binding of our class interests and affections. In the mean time we ran off a minstrel show with great success. Then that most difficult task of getting by the exams was safely accomplished.

Now, after being scattered through the summer, we are gathered for the last time, fewer in numbers, but stronger, more determined, more united than ever. As Seniors, it is our duty, first, to carry ourselves through this year as a class of one mind, seeking always the welfare and advancement of our Alma Mater; second, to pass on to our successors the worthy traditions and customs of M. A. C.; last, to foster and preserve the unconquerable spirit of "Old Massachusetts,"

The Junior Class

Junior History

ERE we are, once again looking back over the events of the past, not as timid Freshmen, or as brave and daring Sophomores, but as loyal, jolly Juniors with the true Mass'chusetts spirit.

Our first two years were not crowned with athletic victories, for in these we were much handicapped by our small numbers, and we also thought it better policy to teach the opposing classes the art of politeness than to crown ourselves at the beginning with such laurels. But in the all important struggle with the faculty we have proven ourselves worthy, at least, of staying by our Alma Mater.

While we have settled down now to a life of peace and quiet we still delight to recall the many escapades of the past. The strongest impressions of these may be left with the class which follows or with some of the grave Seniors who heard and re-heard the echo of "Vint's" paddle by the muddy waters of the college pond.

Besides the many events which are known to the other classes as well as to ourselves, there are those of the class-room. While plodding through the trying days of our Freshman year, a few of our men were lost by the wayside, but we are proud to say that we enter now upon the "jolliest year of our lives" marching onward with full ranks.

Perhaps our luck in not having "Billy's" Physics to deal with was the cause of returning this year with as many as we had last, but still we feel sure that the time spent on "Eulamellibranchiata" and "Mastigophora" has fully offset this.

To talk of ourselves and make what is said sound well is a most difficult task. We are in such a position as this when relating the events of our past, for we must hit between boastfulness and modesty.

As in centuries ago the Oracle was consulted for the future and what it would bring forth, so to-day, if one could consult the Oracle, it would foretell a brilliant future for the class of 1910. But these Oracles remain silent, their voices but a mystery, and we can only hope to prove ourselves worthy sons of our Alma Mater.

The Sophomore Class

Sophomore History

HE old, old proverb that "Time waits for no man" still holds true; so we now find ourselves entering that mysterious realm of the Sophomore.

During our Freshman year we partly showed our real worth by allowing the Sophomores to win but a single contest, that being basket ball. In football, in spite of the fact that the Sophomores had an older and more experienced team, we held them to a "no score." A very dark and gloomy outcome was predicted for 1911 in baseball, yet we went onto the field and defeated 1910 to a tune not easily forgotten.

No one doubts but what 1911 showed herself worthy of old Massachusetts in the way we pulled off the rope-pull, secured our president from the hands of the Sophomores and ran off a successful banquet all in the short space of three days. We were challenged by the Sophomores to pull rope during the April holidays. This, however, did not appeal to some of the upper classmen, so the senate took charge. They ruled that the rope pull should not come off until the following week. As a compromise they also ruled that we must run our banquet off before the following Thursday.

During this time the Sophomores had not been idle. They captured our president and spirited him off to parts unknown. We now sent out scouts with the result that at an early hour Wednesday morning our president was with us. Plans were speedily made and a very successful banquet quietly pulled off.

Our Sophomore history is but yet in its infancy, so let us hope that when it is full grown it will show that we are a credit to Old Mass'chusetts.

The Freshman Class

Freshman History

IT possible that the class of 1912 has a history? We have been tegether scarcely two weeks, and yet, during that time, events have taken place which show in a large measure what the future of the class is to be.

As we assembled in the chapel for the first time; some of us happy and confident in the assurance of accepted certificates, others anxious and worried over doubtful examinations, we were surprised at the large size of our class and the small number of the Sophomores. After an address of welcome from the president, and an explanation of college customs by the dean, we were turned over to the upper classmen, who read numerous rules for our guidance during this period of verdant ignorance..

As we examined our surroundings one disappointment greeted us. The pond, of which we had heard so much, and through whose miry depths we had hoped to pull the defeated Sophomores, was dry, and therefore the tug-of-war had to be indefinitely postponed.

One morning, while the "Sophs" were industriously studying the how and why of the law of gravity and kindred subjects, an automobile puffed up to the chapel, and the class of 1912, called together by its friends, the Juniors, hastily assembled and the class picture was taken. Meanwhile the "Sophs." had been told of what was taking place, but all too late. They hurried from their classroom, arriving in time to see the automobile carry the photographer and his camera safely out of sight.

Under the skillful coaching of the Juniors, we are fast developing a rope-pull team, which we are confident will take yards of rope from our opponents, whenever they see fit to challenge us. We have a number of men on the football squad, and the outlook for a winning class team is bright. Our greatest victories will not be on the athletic field, however, but in the classroom against such formidable rivals as the strong and weak declensions, the irregular verbs, cube root, and the binomial theorem. We have come here with a purpose, and are determined to prove ourselves worthy sons of the "Old Bay State."

Football

UR FOOTBALL SEASON opened this year under rather unfavorable conditions, as many of last year's team were graduated. Among them was our veteran quarter back, Cobb. This left us with the proposition of developing much new material, a very hard problem to solve in a small college.

Coach Bullock has met these conditions in a manner gratifying to us all, as the results thus far predict. Our next two games with

Williams and Yale will be extremely hard, but if the team comes out in as good condition as it has the first of the season it will be very satisfactory.

A great surprise came to the college when word was received that our manager was unable to secure a game with Amherst. Two years ago when relations were renewed and Amherst appeared once more on our schedule, the students as well as the faculty and alumni welcomed it heartily, for this game arouses more enthusiasm than any other. Naturally its absence came as a great blow and we hope that Amherst another year may look at the M. A. C. game in a different light.

In closing I will say that the same spirit prevails here among the students during this football season that has always been so characteristic in all our undertakings. And with this same spirit in years to come let us hope that the new M. A. C. may be victorious.

Baseball

N REVIEWING the season of 1908 one cannot help being impressed by the record which the team made. Victories over such colleges as Brown and Vermont were extremely gratifying, especially the latter, since Vermont had scored victories over Harvard, Dartmouth, Holy Cross, Notre Dame, and other leading colleges in the East. Throughout the season, the team played with a speed and versatility that would have reflected credit on any college team. The enthusiasm shown by the student body helped the team wonderfully, while the services of Coach Breckenridge were very much in evidence during the games with the larger colleges. The percentage of games won was much higher than had ever been reached before, and this is all the more noticeable because of the hard schedule which was played.

The prospects for this year do not seem quite so bright at present because we have lost five men, among them the famous "Roger" Cobb, whose name is well known among our rival colleges, and will be long remembered with regret by some of them. Two others were also lost by graduation, Warner, rf, and Shattuck, 2b, while O'Donnell, ss, has left college and Tilton 3b has entered Princeton. To offset this, the freshman class has brought a grist of material and there is no reason why a fast team should not be developed.

A fine schedule has been arranged for the coming season and it presents a good opportunity for the further advancement of M. A. C. in intercollegiate contests, and in the eyes of our numerous loyal alumni who are proudly watching the record of each season from many distant parts of the world.

Let every man in college who can throw a baseball come out and do his best toward developing a team that may surpass even the record of last season and be an honor and a source of pride to all who have the best interests of college at heart.

Basketball

LTHOUGH interest in basketball for the past few years has been rather dead, yet the sentiment expressed at a recent mass meeting showed the student body to be still in favor of the game, and for another year M. A. C. is to be represented by a team.

On looking over the record of the past season it can hardly be said that it was a brilliant one, but it was at least successful considering the many difficulties with which the management had to contend.

The outlook for the coming season is encouraging. Handicapped somewhat by the loss of a few men by the graduation of 1908, yet with the old men we have with us and indications pointing to some promising material among the new men there is no reason why we cannot turn out a winning team.

Now, to have a winning team requires the earnest and hearty co-operation of every man in college. "Get together" fellows and show the good Old Mass'chusetts spirit by giving your college team your best support.

The 1908 Stock-Judging Contest

HERE was instituted this year under the auspices of the New England Federation of Agricultural Students an innovation which promises much in the line of future results. This was a stock-judging contest held October first at the Brocton Fair. The New England Federation of Agricultural Students was organized in December, 1907, at Burlington, Vermont, and has for its purpose the drawing together of the agricultural interests of the New England Agricultural colleges into a closer relationship of sympathy and cooperation. These student judging contests represent one of the several ways in which the Federation is planning to manifest itself.

In the contest this year the four colleges: Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, and Rhode Island competed, three men composing a team from each institution. The details had been carefully arranged and the whole affair went through as smoothly as could be desired and may well be called a striking success. Mr. J. R. Danks, superintendent for F. Lothrop Ames, Langwater Farm, scored the contest and the results were as follows: Maine scored 2685 points, New Hampshire was second with 2490, Rhode Island third with 2460 and Massachusetts fourth with 2430. By winning the contest the Maine students secure a magnificent silver trophy. Our Massachusetts team consisted of Briggs '09, Armstrong and French '10.

These contests from now on will without doubt be an influence and an inspiration in the work of our agricultural colleges. They will fill a long felt want and evolve into a very important factor in our agricultural education.

Musical Organizations

T IS ONLY during the past three years that this college has made any attempt to have a Glee Club, Mandolin Club and Orchestra. The lack of success of these clubs is due not to the want of material but more to the lack of enthusiasm on the part of the student body. Music should be an important feature of college life, and it is the duty of every man if he has any musical ability to make a try for one of these clubs.

The prospects of this year are brighter than ever before. With a large freshman class to choose from, we hope to have a Glee Club, Mandolin Club and Orchestra of which the college may well be proud.

In looking back over the past year one can hardly say that our musical clubs were a success. Why should this have been so? It is due largely to the fact that the men were too busily occupied otherwise to attend the rehearsals. This year the men should do all they can to further the interests of these clubs by attending every rehearsal.

It is to be regretted that we have no musical instruction here in college and the large amount of undeveloped talent is a strong plea for a musical training. It is to be hoped in the near future this institution will have a Director of Music and that the musical association shall become a permanent organization and a source of interest and pleasure to all.

Class Song

We gather here to sing our song, to nineteen hundred ten. We stand for Alma Mater, true Massachusetts men. Our class shall lead in honor, in field and Hall of Fame. We'll stand by her forever, to raise on high her name.

CHORUS:

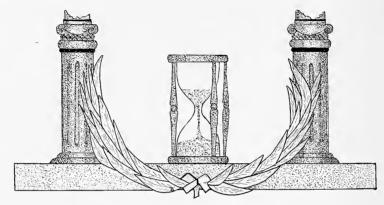

Nineteen ten forever,

The blue and white our guide,
All praise to thee O college dear,
Old Massachusetts tried.

Dear old class we hail thee,
Loyal Aggie men,
The echoing hills resound the cheer,
For nineteen hundred ten.

We praise the hills and valleys near, the fairest of the land. Let's join and give our cheer, boys; old Bay State's sons so grand. When from thy sheltering care the class of Ten has gone, We'll strive to echo forth the spirit of our song.

CHORUS:

A Review of the Year

T'S HARD for a student to take time enough to gather a review of the year. College men are not made that way. Their thoughts and actions are based upon the future. "To-morrow" is their watchword. Yet it behooves us to turn and take a retrospective of the year, with its successes and failures, drawing lessons from each.

We will not linger over the magnificence of new buildings or the increased enrollment of faculty, but rather give a history of the student life and activities. Among the most prominent of the activities stands out the glorious football season of 1907. At this period college enthusiasm was at its height. The continued victories of our team even surpassed the hopes of our most optimistic.

In the early part of the year a Trophy room was opened which did so much to create good fellowship and loyalty that it is with open arms that we welcome the establishing of a College Union and the opening of rooms in North College this year. This good fellowship seems almost to have been the nucleus of a larger spirit of co-operation of Trustees, Faculty and students. It truly marks an epoch in the history of M. A. C.

The Young Men's Christian Association has been as strong as ever and the new department of Bible Study has worked well, promising to be the backbone of the Y. M. C. A. activities.

A much needed organization for the study of nature was found in the Metawampe Club. Delightful excursions were taken to the nearby mountains, and in the spring the club brought joy to the hearts of many of its friends by giving a Sugaring Off. The fair maids of the neighbouring colleges were invited to partake of the abundance of sweets.

The beginning of Y. M. C. A.'s track team takes its date from the past year. The spirit for track was awakened, or rather re-awakened, because in the early athletic history there was a track team in the late winter. On March 19th an interclass indoor track meet was held. The success of the meet and the good showing of material brought the idea of an outdoor meet and in May one was held at Pratt Field.

Interspersed with all these events something else happened, "Aggie" trimmed Brown in base ball to the tune of 6-3. "Breathes there a man whose soul's so dead" that does not remember that celebration? The base ball season was characterized by a goodly number of victories, placing us in the winning class in college base ball.

To impress even yet more strongly upon our minds that this was a year of beginnings and that we must be as little children again, the fates decreed that the monster mumps must have his way. Slowly, week by week, day by day, one by one, two by twos, the ranks were diminished. At class rolls all absences accounted for by the simple word "Mumps." Just before Commencement time the afflicted ones began again to take their places and find themselves just on time for June exams.

Quickly the weeks had passed and the last few days of Commencement week were before us. They came with feelings of joy and sadness. The joy of accomplished work and prospects of a summer vacation. The sadness of saying good by to the boys of 1908, the largest graduating class in the history of the college.

The summer is over. We are back again. Back again with added cares upon our shoulders, but also back again with the determination to make this year still better. With the new class with its banner enrollment combined with the united upper classes, we are going into the fight with added zeal and keeping always in view that symbol of the future—"Co-operation."

A Glance Ahead

HE EDITOR of the Index has asked me to prophesy. I hesitate, for it is unsafe to try to draw the curtains of the future. Yet everywhere ideals are necessary. Men dream before they do. There must be a plan for every building, a goal for every human achievement, an ideal for every human purpose. We take these standards and work towards them. We may not reach our ideal. Indeed, we may change it from time to time, but we cannot get along without it.

All progress in an institution of this sort must be rooted in the past and evolve from the present. Landscape architects tell us that some of the noble lines of trees on our college campus are out of place. But some of these trees are forty years old. They probably will remain where they are for a century longer. The college has been established for over forty years. We cannot change its location; we cannot change its history; it has rooted itself in certain ways. We must abide the consequences of this history—we must let the tree stand, we must let the tree grow.

The college is not quite like the tree. There are many things about it that we cannot change, but we can shape its future growth. As a rule, the tree grows best if it is left to itself. But an institution grows by what men do for it and put into it. So, wise plans about a college ripen eventually into great achievements. Mistakes can sometimes be corrected, but we must not uproot. Our college must grow in accordance with its history and its conditions. We must build upon the past and out of the present.

First of all, we must remember that this college is an agricultural college. Sometimes our friends forget this. This does not mean that it is a narrow college. The definition of agriculture is being constantly broadened, and is even now so inclusive that we might, if we cared to, easily become an agricultural university. But we are an agricultural college. We cannot dismiss that fact. We do not wish to forget it. Let us stick to our text. There is plenty of work to do. In fact, one of my fears is that some institutions that have heretofore scorned the thought of agriculture, and perhaps looked down upon us and our work, may in this day when agriculture is forging ahead so rapidly get the start of us, take away our leadership in our chosen field.

We must remember that we are a New England college. This may mean little or it may mean much. Of course it means that we must work in accordance with the ideas and ideals of the school men of New England. It should not mean that we are to be unduly deliberate, or unwilling to learn of others, simply because we have back of us the prestige of New England.

Once more let us remember that this, as a state college, is under unique pledges to the Commonwealth and to the United States. This fact means a good deal for us, as faculty and as students. We have certain duties to the public, we have certain obligations of conduct, simply because we are a state college. We cannot get away from these, and no man is loyal to the college who tries to get away from them. We must own the interests of the public, because the public owns us.

What are some of the items of progress that we may look for during the next decade?

SIZE: Personally, I don't care whether this is a large college or a small college. I want it to be an efficient college. If we can maintain a strong institution that graduates only fifty men a year, and these men are of a type that we can stand by through thick and thin, it is better than to graduate five hundred men, the majority of whom are weaklings. Yet if we can have some day an enrollment of a thousand men or more, can give them the proper equipment, and can maintain the right sort of life for them, why not welcome them? To my mind, the question of size is a subsidiary one. It all depends upon how efficient we are.

EQUIPMENT: No one can foresee the growth of buildings and additions to the faculty. It is obvious that we need some things very much. We have, for instance, started to build up a strong division of agriculture. To do this, we will need the services of several more professors, and we must have several large buildings for agriculture worthy the name. We need a library which is fire-proof and adapted to the students' use, so inviting that it shall become a great centre of student interest and activity. There are other departments that need to be adequately housed. There are new departments that will have to be created. We cannot have a well-equipped agricultural college until some of these immediate needs for buildings and men are realized.

COURSES OF STUDY: Our courses of study, in the long run, will become more flexible; there will be more electives for the advanced work. But the course, if possible, will be even broader than now; we cannot surrender to the cry for over-specialization. Our men must know something of the great human interests; our graduates must possess the tools of culture. More and more we must insist upon continually higher standards of scholarship. This doesn't mean that we must try to get above the class of men who naturally will come to us, but that the men who come must do constantly stronger work.

ATMOSPHERE: We are to see a better college spirit, with less emphasis upon the fraternity and the class and the clique, and more emphasis, and continually more emphasis, upon the college. The true M. A. C. spirit is a college spirit, and not a clique spirit. There will develop gradually and naturally the coöperative idea between the students and the faculty, so that we will not stand as opposing, but as coöperating, forces. There will be an atmosphere of labor and not of leisure. But it will not be a "dead" college. For the spirit of toil is a spirit of joy. Men will learn in college to leve to work. And they will play hard because they have worked hard.

I predict that the great thing about M. A. C. in future will be not so much its location, which is ideal; not so much its equipment, which will continue to grow and which will undoubtedly be satisfactory; not so much its faculty, which we trust will strengthen year by year; not so much its attendance, which we hope will increase steadily and permanently,—but its atmosphere,—an atmosphere of devotion to its real purpose, of breadth of view, of the coöperating spirit. On its altars shall be kindled the fires of an undying love for Alma Mater. In its halls and on its grounds shall be created inspirations which shall carry men into lives of high service to their fellow men, and young men will be glad to come here to live for four weeks, or four years, because they will find an atmosphere that builds them up, and that sends them out not only efficient workers but inspired by the marvelous knowledge that science brings us, and by the spirit of service. For, after all, these are the only adequate measures of a man's education.

GRINDS

A Tale of A Starlight Night

Listen my children and you shall hear Of a midnight bath that occurred one year, When the sophomores were the class of '10 And what they did to the freshmen then. The sophs had declared at the first of the year That their course with the freshmen was perfectly clear: They would treat them all as gentlemen And to hazing would not subject them. The scheme worked well, as some things do. At first, because 'twas something new. But freshmen there were not a few. Who, fresh at first, still fresher grew, And heeding not their friendly turn. All their rules were wont to spurn. Day by day they waxed in knowledge, Day by day they waned in college Rev'rence for the upper classmen, Wrath of sophs called down upon them. One day the sophomores got together. ('Twas the first of the mild spring weather.) "This thing must stop, must cease, said they, The freshmen too long have had their way.' Then one, the wisest of the class. Said, "we my friends have played the ass. The I speak not in accents polished. Hazing should not, must not, be abolished." Said one, whose forensic displays Ofttimes caused "Daddy" much dismay, "Friends, fellows, classmates, Lend me vour ears. We shall not 'haze' the freshmen. We shall 'train' them,

For a little training now and then. Is good for e'en the best freshmen. How 'twill be done I'll say no more. For I see my wife has got the floor." "Mr. President! I rise to state That beyond von greensward lies a lake. A sea, whose waters dark and gory Are known as 'Freshmen's Purgatory.' Into its bosom used to fly Scant clad freshmen, in days gone by. As other sophomores did, so, too, should we Cast the freshest into this dismal sea, Where, while the bullfrogs expatiate, They have full leisure to cogitate Upon their deeds, and meditate Over their acts and actions." Many were the speeches made that day. But the evidence pointed in but one way: "Into their hearts we'll strike dismay. In brief, they swim without delay." Such was the burden of their theme, Let it suffice, we'll shift the scene.

Clad only in their birthday clothes, Upon the bank the freshmen froze. Round them ranged the sophomores stern, Short of speech and taciturn One less each time sat on the bank, And fearfully gazed where last had sank The comrade that but a minute before Had shivered beside them on the shore. Learned are they in an unknown lore, Never will they be as fresh as yore Quoth the freshmen.

"Nevermore."

A shout, borne over the budding trees, Brought on the wings of the midnight breeze, Told of the gathering freshmen clan, Down in town, rallying to a man. "This thing won't do," the sophomores said, "Long should the freshmen have been in bed, But, since they want to see the fun, We should see that they see it done.' They stormed a house, their strongest hold, Where freshies gathered with numbers bold. "All freshmen out," the sophomores cried. "Come and take us," freshmen replied. The sophomore shouts and imprecations Shook the buildings to its foundations. And, where the freshmen had assembled, The house, from floor to roof-tree, trembled. But, when they'd seen the sophomore's ire, And how, with wrath and rage on fire, And anger wild, and how irate The sophomores were, they knew their fate. Then o'er their deeds they ruminate, And wish the sophs to propitiate. "Come out or we'll take you," one sophomore cried; "We're coming, sir," the freshmen replied. To college now their way they take, And pause once more beside the lake. The freshmen in a line must stand, With sophomores ranged on either hand. Each one as his name they call, Steps forth, to be viewed by all. His deeds and misdeeds they mention, And, if they're needy of attention, He's sentenced as is the custom hoary, To a bath in "Freshmen's Purgatory." One freshman who'd "come out to see the fun," Saw it and felt it all, ere he was done. Twice in the pond he was made to swim, And thrice the paddle they used on him. The rest were then the gauntlet sent. For this much reverence is lent.

For, in a manner much the same,
The Redskin, ere the Paleface came,
Treated the captives of his bow,
In the hazy Past of Long Ago.
But, instead of the club they used, 'tis said,
With unerring aim on the victim's head,
We used a paddle, made of pine,
Upon a spot that will not rime.
Some at first were inclined to walk,
But when they felt the paddle's shock,
Their pace they quickened, to a man,
And, toward the end, Lord! how they ran.
And every single mother's son

Thus my children, they did of old, To freshmen, when they waxed too bold. Take care that you do not as they, But stick to the straight and narrow way.

Smith College, Northampton, Mass.,

April 20, 1908.

Sweet William:-

I received your dear note this morning and was so sorry to hear you had the grip. Drop it—take a suit case. No, I'm sorry I can't have you come over next Monday evening for Alma Mater won't let me have callers on washday, but I would love to have you come over Saturday evening as I said in my last. I was so sorry to miss the dancing class last night. You must have had a slow time because you didn't dance with any other girl in my absence, of course. I can just see you whirling the boys around. When I was studying my history last night and came across William of Orange all I could think of was William of Lemon. Richard the Lion-hearted made me think of William the Lion-hearted. You certainly bothered me a lot, goodness I hope I don't get mixed in the exams.

Yes, thank you, my grand uncle is much better. He has left off having the gout and now has the rheumatism. Sister Edith has the measles and last week had the mumps. I believe she expects to have the whooping-cough next. We are an invalid family, you see. Just at present I'm suffering from palpitation of the heart. But you'll come and see me soon. And then I'll have heart disease. Bring "Jack in the Pulpit" with you.

Well, I must stop now.

Yours — I'm Bashful,

GUESS?

P. S. Now, William, you won't put this where any one can possibly see it will you? You certainly can be trusted.

Cheap Jokes

Kid (after cracking one of his jokes): "There is a point to that joke and I don't care if you do put it in your Index, but don't leave out the point as '09 did in theirs."

Johnny O: "How did you happen to break this tape, Mr. Folsom?"

Folsom: "Stepped on it."

Johnny O: "Well I'm glad it wasn't any worse than that, but from the numerous dents it looks as if some one threw an axe at it."

Billy (in mechanics): "McGraw, if I set this weight on the table what kind of work does this table exemplify?"

McGraw: "I don't know but I should say it was woodwork."

Kid (looking at frat. seal on Allen's watch): "That's cute?" Allen: "No, Kappa Sig."

Prof. Howard: "The laws of gravity were known even in the garden of Eden." Leonard: "Yes. Adam fell."

Kid (after pause): "Yes and I believe you find that in verse 23."

Capt. Martin (to Blaney in Tactics): "What effect does looking across a sheet of water have on judging distance?"

Blaney (pauses).

Capt. Martin: "Perhaps you are not used to looking across water."

An Ode to Elsie B.

A humorist was Elsie B. At least, that's what he once told me, And who should know as well as he? Hundreds of jokes he must have brained. And scores he certainly has strained, Dozens he doubtlessly has racked. While half a score, perhaps, he cracked. His jokes were given to us free, If the point we'd pretend to see. But, if we asked a diagram, Drawn to scale, or a blue print plan, Showing the point as plain as day, Then twice the fee we'd surely pay. As a fusser, too, the college owned his skill, For, e'en tho jilted, he'd go fussing still. In mathematics he was a "shark," Nor would he pale at "Billy's" bark. In zoology, too, he could expatiate, On why the arthropoda should sagaciate. Certainly, 'twould be hard to find the mate, Of sesquipedal L. C. B.—the Great.

Overheard on the Campus

Stranger: "I understand they have instituted a number of new courses here this year."

Student: "O yes, the very latest course is one in matrimony. The course is open to stenographers and bookkeepers only. We graduated about six last year, and prospects are better this year, they say."

Zoology

The class goes into the lecture.

Doc. Gordon is already there.

The first procedure is calling the roll,

And this is done with great care.

After carefully marking the absent, And the tardy, too, as well, Doc. starts right in on "Mollusca," Or of "Arthropods" may tell.

While most of the class is sleeping And a few are taking notes, On "Lamellebranchiata," The poor professor dotes.

But when examination comes,

We find where we have blundered,
For most of the class gets below twenty-three,
And only one shark gets one hundred.

Of course you have read the phrase in the Bible
That tells about Faith, Hope and Charity.
To get by a course such as Gordon teaches
All three are involved necessarily.

He must have Faith in teaching the subject, The Hope lies with you and I, Just where the Charity comes in the case, Is when the whole class gets by. Said Beetle to the Kid one day, You are a rotten joker, The only game that you can play Is a rummy game of poker.

Swan Song of the Flunked

When I was fresh, and in my prime,
I could get a ten spot most any old time,
But now I am old and my brains grown cold,
And I can't get by to save my soul.

Limericks

Frank Haynes they say is a shark,
And always gets A + for a mark,
All this we allow,
But we'll tell you right now,
That he's always in for a lark.

There was a young man called "Hen,"
Whom his friends asked where he had been,
But we all know quite well
There is no need to tell,
He was over the mountain till ten.

There was a young man named Hazen,
Who talked like bloody blue blazen,
But for all his hot air
He's right on the square,
And for this we hand him the raisin.

There was a young man named "Moc,"
For old England he stood like a rock,
And when he was asked
He said if he das't
He would take a big glass of "Old Bock."

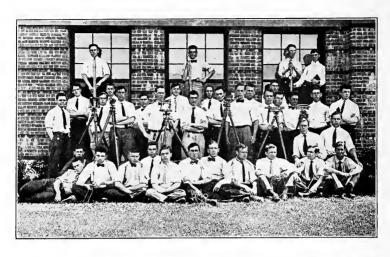

We have a long man named Cy Clarke,
Who has a most terrible bark,
He's so fond of the girls
That his head fairly whirls
And he's afraid to go home in the dark.

Lib Bailey is as straight as a stick, Indeed he is not very thick, In math he does well, As all of us tell, And always gets by pretty slick.

There was a young man from Fall River,
And he was a friend of old "Sliver,"
For we all called him "Pete,"
After the girls he did beat,
Until he got stung by the "River."

There was a young man named Brown,
Who decided a skunk to hunt down,
When he saw a striped rabbit,
He told Pete Allen to grab it,
We thought he had bats in his crown.

Tub Beeman is truly quite fat:
There is no dispute about that.
If his head could compete
With the size of his feet,
He'd wear a number ten hat.

1910 Past and Present

RODOLPHUS HAROLD ALLEN. Harold will be a voter next April, on the 11th. His home has always been in Fall River according to his own story, but Cottage City, "Hamp," and some other summer resorts claim part of the honor. Rodolph went to B. M. C. D. High School, Rah! Rah! Rah! where he learned all the social arts, such as dancing, fussing, and (drill?) Since coming to college. "Pete" has mastered a few simple studies, like zoölogy and chemistry. But his brilliancy in the recitation room is eclipsed by his athletic stunts. His poetic temperament is shown by his spasm entitled, "There was a young girl from Fall River." Peter seems to have an affinity for Repeater, Bill Leonard. He man-for Repeater, Bill Leonard. He managed the class football team, played on class basketball and baseball team, was chairman of the Sophomore-Senior Prom. Committee, and Informal Committee. "Pete" is a \mathbb{K}^Σ and hopes some day to become a Forester.

ROSS EVERED ANNIS. This diminutive Lord Chesterfield first opened his histrous optical orbs at Natick, Mass., on July 5, 1886, only to find himself one day too late for the celebration. He has never recovered from this disappointment and wears a sad, meditative aspect to this day. Ross, in his youthful days, was a plugger, vanquishing the N. H. S. faculty in three rounds. Since he has elected mathematics, however, he has acquired such a pull with Johnnie that he doesn't have to study. He fusses on occasions, and is a great favorite with the coeds. He hibernates in the Library, and is a member of $\Phi\Sigma K$.

ROBERT PIERSON ARMSTRONG. In 1883 a tornado struck the town of Milford, N. Y. and left this animated particle of protoplasm, whose common name is Bob. Chauncey's prep. schools are numerous, among them being Hartwich Seminary and Stevens School. His present home is not in the United States, but in Rutherford, N. J. Bob has been with us only a year, but he has made his presence known. He is a true and loyal '10 man and was on the relay and stock judging teams. Bob believes in farming so strongly that he is going to turn into a Hayseed himself. He belongs to the $\Phi\Sigma K$ Fraternity.

DEXTER EDWARD BAILEY. Dexter happened at Andover March 29, 1890, but later moved to Tewksbury. He went through the grammar school of that village and entered Lowell High, from which he graduated in 1906. Coming to M. A. C. during the middle of our Freshman year he easily made good and has plugged so much since then that he is now known as a class "shark." On account of his military bearing and erect carriage he has been made Quartermaster Sergeant of the battalion. "Lib" likes to rough house but has not yet learned to lick his wife. He ran on our class relay team, is a member of $\Theta\Phi$ and has chosen Chemistry for his life's work.

JUSTUS CONANT BAILEY. Bill is a true son of Nature for he was born out in Box Butte, Nebraska, on September 27, 1887. There must have been Indians out there, because Tim always speaks in a whisper, as if he was afraid of being scalped. He now hoes in peace at Wareham, Mass., and graduated from W. H. S. in 1906. Justus is a running mate of Lib.'s and there is always lots of both, for us all. However, Bill is never lacking in case of trouble, and has ever proved a good worker for our class. He belongs to $\Theta\Phi$ and chooses Horticulture.

FRANCIS STONE BEEMAN. This high-stepping mammoth was picked up in Barre, Vt., August 4th, 1889. But on account of his enormous proportions it was found necessary to move "Sliver," Junior, to Amherst, where he now lives. "Tubby's" prep. school was Warren High, and he graduated from there in 1906. "Fat" has been Class Secretary and Treasurer because it was thought his size would scare away the most daring robber. "Tub" was also anchor on the rope pull team. He is a member of $K\Sigma_{\rm c}$ and is electing wheat

JONATHAN PHILLIPS BLANEY. "Beetle" flew into Swampscott, alighting there July 25, 1887, and graduating from the High School in 1905. Feeling his incompetence to deal with "Conditions" at M. A. C. he took a P. G. course at High School. We feel proud to have John a member of our class, for since coming to college he has played "Varsity" football and baseball as well as taking a prominent part in our class games. This man's ability does not stop with athletics, for he is an artist of this book and has proven himself no mean member of the class in political economy. To back up his economic views Mr. Blaney thoroughly believes that two people can live as cheaply as one; hence his many trips "Over the Mountain." He is a member of C. S. C., and elects Landscape.

LOUIS BRANDT. This champion of co-education began to advocate his theory in the City of Learning, on November 5, 1887. Deciding that the atmosphere was too heavy there, he moved to the lighter climate of Everett, Mass., and there graduated from Everett High in '06. "Nimrod" is truly our fusser; his fair maidens are distributed from Maine to California. "Lou" is a prominent man in our class, having been Class Captain, on the football and basketball teams, an artist of this book, member of the Glee Club, First Prize Burnham Eight, and other honors too numerous to mention. He is a KS and elected Horticulture.

HENRY ALVA'N BROOKS .--

"But gie me a canny hour at e'en, My arms about, my dearie, O, An warly cares and warly men, My a gal ta saltierie, O!"

Spike was born August 18, 1886, in Framingham, Mass. The honors received by him are the College Senate, Signal, and Vice-President of the Class. He sure is a deep one, and to prove this we state that he has elected Math. and Scotch dialect. The latter is partly a correspondent course and partly a night course. He is a member of the $\Phi\Sigma K$ fraternity.

SUMNER CUSHING BROOKS. Born August 17, 1888, under the sunny skies of Japan, shipped from there to the Country of the Rhine; again transferred to this fair land of ours; such have been the wanderings of this fellow. We are glad to say that he has retained neither the tealoving characteristic of the Jap, nor the love for German beer. Sumner graduated from the Amherst High School along with "Dick," who brought him down the Botany walk to "Aggie." Sumner's knowledge of college customs gained for him the position of 1910's first President. He is a speedy runner, though small, gets in his share of fussing, and hopes some day to make the apples of Massachusetts as widely known as those of Oregon. ΦΣΚ claims "Cush" as a member.

LOUIS CARMEL BROWN .--

Where, oh where did this Thing come from, Nobody knows, nobody knows.

But it is thought that it came from Lakewood, Ohio, about March 24, 1886. Where it came from doesn't upset us, but the fact it is here now is the cause of all our trouble. El-sie is a thorough windjammer from Bridgewater, Mass, graduating from B. H. S. in 1906. Louis has been leader of the class baseball team and has also helped us by playing football. Other honors have come to him through his ability to sling ink for the Signal. He is a K∑ and is going in for Math.

Sk—k! Sk—k! Sk—k! Bridgewater, Bridgewater.

EDWARD JOSEPH BURKE .--

"Holyoke, Holyoke, that's the place for me."

This nameless windjammer was thrust upon the world in the Empire City of Holyoke, February 18, 1888. He prepared for M. A. C. at Holyoke High, where he learned to play basketball. Peanut is now a full-fledged dealer of hot air and has been highly recommended to the American Hot-Air Dispensers' Union. Eddie is manager of the Varsity baseball team and Captain of Varsity basketball. He is a member of C. S. C. and has elected Chemistry.

WALTER ROE CLARKE. It would take the combined pens of Homer, Herodotus, and Hearst to properly chronicle the doings of 'Cy." He was born at Milton-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., March 29, 1886, prepared at C. C. I. and entered M. A. C. with the class of 1910, for which he has done a great deal since he has been with us. He made the Signal board in his Freshman year. Also the Burnham Eight. He is Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., member of the Senate, Assistant Editor of the Signal, and Editor-in-Chief of this book. Herodotus would say something of "Cy's" football days, Homer would add a glowing account of his martial stride and soldierly appearance, while Hearst alone can tell what he would say of this Ciliate. At present the only kind of apple which "Cy" can raise is his Adam's apple, when he lifts his voice in harmony with the choir. He hopes, however, to be able to raise some other kinds, so is majoring in Pomology. He is a member of $K\Sigma$.

WILLIAM ARTHUR CLOUES. This studious, industrious, instructive, and learned youthful cogitator first uttered infantile sounds in that renowned city of Boston, April 6, 1888. William has always been a deep thinker and has visited many preparatory schools in order to imbibe more knowledge before he entered here. Among them are Montpelier H. S., Littleton H. S., Simonds H. S., and Warner H. S. Arthur also indulged in a P. G. course at Warner H. S. Art's paternal residence is invaginated in the White Mountains or Warner, N. H. Demosthenes is not lacking in athletic ability, for he has demostrated that he can play ball and also do good work on the track. He is a member of Q. T. V. and is in for hoe-culture,

HENRY TRASK COWLES. This Side-Wheel Steam Boat was launched at Dover, Mass., October 26, 1887. He soon had steam enough in his boilers to bump up against the piles at Worcester. After graduating from the Classical High School he spent two years "cowling" up, after which he proceeded with a full head of steam for M. A. C. Since entering the harbor of M. A. C., "Blackie" has proven himself a strong and loyal classman, for being used to "hawsers," he made good on the rope pull team. His nightly voyages across the river have qualified him for the Fusser's Club. Θ^{Φ} claims him as a charter member. Henry elects Biology.

EDWARD FARNHAM DAMON ---

"Here once the embattled farmers stood, And fired the shot heard 'round the world."

What made Concord famous? This shot or "Beany"? We think it was Beany, for he began to manage things September 25, 1887. Con-ord High School prepared him for his illustrious career at M. A. C., where he has proven himself to be full of college spirit. Farnham has played class base-ball and was a member of the track team. His executive ability has made him Assistant Manager of the Signal and the Index. Beany is a member of ΦΣΚ and will some day be a scientific farmer.

LAWRENCE SUMNER DICKINSON. "Boy" first breathed the exhilerating ozone of the Connecticut Valley in Amherst, August 29, 1888. He went through Amherst H. S., carrying Sumner with him, and immediately after entered M. A. C. "Dickie" is very fond of his namesake across the river and often visits him. The funds of the class have enabled him to do this on a presumptuous scale. His artistic ability was shown by the ingenuity of the decoration at the Sophomore Prom. He is a member of $\Phi \times \text{t}$ and hopes some day to be a Civil Engineer.

ROGER SHERMAN EDDY. This "Big Moose" was taken from cold storage in Boston, April 26, 1887. "Rog" has kept cool ever since and graduated from the Demeritte School in '05, and being interested in agronomical subjects cast his lot with M. A. C., '09, and was a very strong classman. When he came with 1910 it was a hard struggle to change the spirit, but we are proud to say that his cool deliberations and staunch advice have aided us over many a rough and stormy situation.

He is now as strong a '10 man as we could ask for and his spirit is well shown by his work on the class football and rope pull team. He has developed into somewhat of a fusser, but is not yet a candidate for the married men's club. He is a member of Q. T. V. and "H. H."

JOHN NELSON EVERSON. On the memorable day of June 18, 1887, John Nelson Everson was found among the boots and shoes of West Hanover. When he was old enough to go to High School he was shipped to Rockland, where he got his diploma in 1906. At M. A. C. Johnnie has always been popular, as is well shown by the honors he has received. He has been manager of our Sophomore basketball team and Captain of our Sophomore track team. John seems to have a pull with the Bloke, so sits in his office and watches the drills. He has a bright future before him, but we hope he won't "get the habit" and roll his trousers too high. John has elected Biology.

RAYMOND JOHN FISKE. Born May 4, 1888, at Stoneham, Mass., there graduating from High School in 1906. Raymond is one of the poets of 1910, as a perusal of this volume will show. The worst trouble with his poetry is in the meter, for he measures its feet by his own. Our Zoölogy sharks have not as yet been able to call this man a mammal or a fish. His spouting seems to point toward his identity with the Whales, but his Sclerenchymatous Parenchyma shows that he is related to the Sole. Fish is a proverbial minister's son and keeps us busy holding him to the straight and narrow way. He belongs to the $\Theta\Phi$ and likes Horticulture.

JOSIAH CHA'SE FOLSOM. On October 15, 1888, the town crier of Billerica announced the birth of Josiah Chase Folsom. He went to the Howe High School, from which he graduated in 1905, returning the next year for a P. G. He came to M. A. C. in 1906 tied to Nick's suitcase. Here he has become very prosperous and now is proprietor of the College Store. This year he is trying to get his voice in tune with the members of the Glee Club. "Josh" still tucks his napkin in his neck, but we are convinced that he is maturing, for he has been known to visit Mt. Holyoke College. He is a member of the Stockbridge Club and Y. M. C. A. His major is wheat.

HENRY RUSSELL FRANCIS. On June 9th, 1890, a great event started the old fishermen gossiping, for on that day Henry Russell Francis was given to the world in the little village of Dennisport, which is tucked away somewhere among the sand dunes of Cape Cod. He graduated from Yarmouth High School at the age of 16 and immediately turned his bowsprit toward M. A. C. His principal characteristic is his good nature, for his combination of grin, cackle, and bullfrog laugh is enough to cure anyone of the blues. "Fran" is a good "windjammer" and can argue any instructor into submission. Harry is ambitious and hopes some day to be Major of the Batallion. He has elected Landscape and is claimed by Q. T. V.

HORACE WELLS FRENCH. Married October 3, 1908, in Taunton, Mass., Horace Wells French, of Pawtucket, R. 1., and Beatrice Beach Baxter, of Newport. The bride is the daughter of the well known artist of Newport. The groom is the eldest son of Dr. French of Pawtucket, and is at present pursuing his studies along an agricultural line at the Massachusetts Agricultural College, being a member of the class of 1910. French has taken a prominent part in both football and baseball and is a member of the $\Phi\Sigma K$ fraternity. His class takes this occasion to bestow upon "Doc" and his bride its heartiest congratulations.

FRANK TUTTLE HAYNES. "Publisher" Haynes came from Sturbridge, which is somewhere east of the Mississippi. He was born April 26, 1887, and graduated from the Southbridge High School in 1906. As a Freshman he was one of those quiet, unobtrusive ones, a little greener than his neighbor. But it was not long before the exhilarating air, the magnificent opportunities for fussing and three banquets per day at Draper Hall began to have their effect. Frank is a Senator, Sophomore Class President, an officer of the College Union, is managing this Index, won the Western Alumni Prize and, last but not least, is Vice-President of the Republican Club. He is a member of Q. T. V. and has elected Wheat.

MYRON SMITH HAZEN, This rare piece of in fat uating beef was weighed out (first) to an admiring throng at Springfield, September 16, 1886. At an early age he acquired the habit of running. Fat was soon shipped to Rockland Military Academy in a freight car, where he was dealt out in lavish proportion by the commissary department. Still finding this piece of beef fresh, it came to Aggie to be corned. He has proven a valuable acquisition, having served on the football and rope pull teams. Pickwick's love for animals is displayed by the fact that "Doc" Paige made him head nurse for his sick cows. Believing in reciprocity, he does considerable cutting up in "Doc" Gordon's Biology course. Myron's beefing qualities placed him upon the Burnham Eight.

ARTHUR WITT HOLLAND. "Art" was born at Worcester, November 27, 1888, but at present resides at Shrewsbury, where he took his first degree in June, 1906. "Duch" is one of those energetic, little fellows who are always about their business. He is an expert at all dairy tricks and spends most of his time playing with cream separators and the like. He is Treasurer of the Y. M. C, A. Arthur expects to own a fruit farm of his own some day and so he is taking Pomology. K$\S$ is his Fraternity.

CHARLES IRWIN HOSMER. Charley first saw the light of day in Turner's Falls, Mass., on the 26th day of July, 1887. "Hosie" prepared at Cushing Academy and received his diploma there in '05. From there he sailed to the University of Vermont, but he couldn't stay away from the "Old Bay State," so he entered M. A. C. as a Junior with the class of '10. "Irwin" is a good athlete and has already made good as full-back on the Varsity football team. His major is Landscape.

WILLIAM CLARENCE JOHNSON. "Kid" was born in South Framingham, Mass., April 29, 1888. He early began to learn, but not to grow. However his small size did not keep him from going through the High School and trumming everyone there in the Chemistry department. When thinking about going to college he, by chance, saw an Index, and that immediately turned him toward M. A. C., where he entered with 1910. "Bill," although a somewhat contracted paramoscium, has made the class baseball team and is one of the editors of this Index. He is a member of Q. T V, and since he has a good pull with Dr. MacLaurin and Kid Howard, he is going to major in Chemistry.

WILLIAM EDWARD LEONARD. "Legs" let out his first whoop in Belmont on the 18th of April, '89, and has been whooping her up ever since. He graduated from the B. H. S. in '06, having acquired with honor the arts of bluffing and of fussing. Finding that the supply of girls in Belmont was limited he decided to look for more promising location and so entered M. A. C. with the rest of the fussers. He has lived up to his reputation, and we are all expecting an announcement before the year is out. Bill has been a prominent man in the class having played on the Varsity football, class football and basketball and was captain of the rope pull team. He was also President of the class. Bill is an admirer of things beautiful, so is electing Botany. He is a member of C. S. C.

LEONARD SEPTIMUS McLAINE. Born June 27, 1887, at Manchester, England. Present residence New York, N. Y. Prep. Schools: Merton House, North Wales; Lyon School, 564 Fifth Avenue, New York. Nicknames: John Bull, Mac, and the "Englishman."

Classification:

Kingdom-King Edward's.

Phylum-England.

Class-Monstrous Pod.

Order-Rare Roast Beef.

Family-Two.

Genus-Good Fellow.

P. S. Unable to further classify this specimen, but it thrives well on Aggre soil, having grown into a class President, a K∑ and a Biologist.

SAMUEL WEIS MENDUM. "Weis or otherwise" thrust his presence upon Roxbury, August 17, 1888. Roxbury Latin School soon developed him into a "Pisces Sharkus." Sammie is sure to graduate at the head of his class for he is in a class by himself. The college has not yet recovered from its shock received upon hearing that Sammy elected that cinch course "Wheat." However "Socrates" is a fine and helpful classmate. $\Theta\Phi$ claims him as a charter member.

FRED PARKER NICKLESS. This expert photographer focused his optics for the first time in Carlisle, April 22, 1889. "Nick" is a son of the "Old Nick," orator, debater, philanthropist with his molasses kisses and ginger ale, and soon to be elected a member of the Married Men's Club. The Howe School of Billerica gave him his "Prep" and he came here with us, where he has run the intellectual gauntlet successfully. His primitive instincts were demonstrated in the Indoor Track Meet by his ability to climb rope. Fred is a strong classman and is one of $\Theta\Phi.$ Hoe-culture is his hobby.

CHARLES ANDREW OERTEL. Charles was born in South Hadley Falls, July 13, 1888. He went to the High School there, graduating in 1906. Charley is a hard worker, and expects some day to become a successful Pomologist. Oertel wears the cheerful smile that never comes off regardless of the fact that he is a member of the Strap-Hangers' Union. We wish him the greatest success in his life work.

FRANK HERBERT PARTRIDGE .--

Way down South—"Framingham"—where I was born, By the camping grounds and the fields of corn, I first saw light on a Wednesday morn, And they called me Blondy when I blew my horn.

Attended Cambridge E. H. S. with nine other fellows. Frank had great difficulty in making the baseball team, but finally made good with the first-string men. With the aid of this brilliant experience, he readily found a position on our class team and also proved invaluable on the class football team. Beefer is a loyal classman and is working hard for our Varsity. He is a member of $\Phi \Sigma K$ and has elected Agriculture.

GEORGE WILLIAM PAULSEN. Georgie first began to cheer in the second largest city in the world on July 29, 1889. He enjoyed the Big City so much that he decided to make it his home. He graduated from the Morris H. S. in 1907. Germans then went to Columbia for one year and last summer paid us a visit. When September came he found that M. A. C. had a great attraction for him so Bill packed his trunk and joined our class. Although he has been with us but a short time he is a true "Ten" man. He is a Sergeant in C Co. and has elected Pomology.

FRANK ALVIN PROUTY. Just by chance, this boy was discovered in Worcester on the morning of April 6, 1888. Prout managed to get through the English High School and came to M. A. C. with 1910. While living here he has acquired some knowledge, some conditions, but, best of all, a girl. Among other achievements he has played class football, made the class track team and each morning his whiskey tenor vibrates with that of the "Kid" in one volume of melodious harmony. He is a member of Q. T. V. and has elected

"Foordatics."

ALBERT FLETCHER ROCKWOOD. Born in the year of our Lord, 1888, in the City of Fitchburg. Moving from there to Concord, where he attended High School with Tom and Beany. Rocky entered M. A. C. with 1911, but preferring even numbers took a step upward into 1910. Albert played class baseball, and distinguished himself and the class by winning the College tennis championship. Like his brother mathematicians he is a great fuseer and is also a member of $\Phi\Sigma K$.

LYMAN GIBBS SCHERMERHORN. The "Horn" of this "Skimmer" first attracted attention in Malden, June 28, 1887. "Skimmer" is a big man, but believed in the motto: That a big duck in a little pond is better than a little duck in a big pond. Thus he went to Rhode Island, but "things are not always what they seem," so Skimmer came back to enter M. A. C. with 1910. Besides being a man of enormous proportions he is also a man of enormous achievements, having served as Class Captain, and as a member of the class football, baseball, basketball and rope pull teams. He was herbut a few months before he made his "M" in football. Horn is a charter member of the "Married Men's Club" and also belongs to Q. T. V. Horticulture will be his future life work.

FRA'NK LINCOLN THOMAS. Tom ambled into Waltham, October 16, 1887. Waltham claimed him as her own until his second year in High School, when the magnetic attraction of Concord's fair dames drew him to that town. This class is fortunate in having Frank Lincoln. He played class football and baseball and is an important member of the Index Board. Frank may be styled the Beacon Light of his class from the fact that those who know him know his nose. Prexy's Postman is a hard worker and is bound to make himself known in the World. He is a member of O. T. V. and is a leader of Wheat.

WILLARD McCREEDY SNOW TITUS .-

Haw-Haw-Haw-He-He-e-e-e-e!

Here we have the unsophisticated boy wonder, a one-celled amphibian. Born on the Skidoo day of June, 1887, away up in the wilds of Canada, he early became filled with the intense desire to become a Horse Jockey.

We hear that Billy-Boy has been exhibited at the Barre Fair numerous times along with Sonoma Girl, whom he firmly believes to be the favorite over High Ball, a by-gone trotter. After passing under the wire at the North Brookfield High School, "Mac" entered our class. Here his mental faculties have been developed in constant practice of "kidd"ing and his muscular development strengthened by constant sawing of "Smallwood." Willard is a member of $\Phi\Sigma K$ and has elected Horseology.

EDWARD HARRISON TURNER. This altitudinous gentleman entered this sphere of usefulness at West Medford, April 19, 1889. He moved from this diminutive burg to Reading in 1891. When Mr. E. Harrison Turner reached our Campus the boys knowing his relationship to "String," promptly dubbed him "Thread." Old Water-Melon Vine is a good classmate; he has played on the football team and exhibited his pace as a mile-runner. His winning smile and ability as an atmospheric compressor combined with his Republican principles make him a useful politician. His knowledge of machinery enabled him to take care of the Hack Job at the 1908-10 "Prom." He is a member of Q. T. V and has elected Sliver-culture.

OTTO VELOROUS TAFT URBAN. Brave Otto was born in the Hub, June 4, 1888, but early moved to the country town of Upton. On account of his "Velor," Bill was able to wrest a diploma from the High School of that town. Here in college he has taken a great liking for Tabby's course; hence his walk; he is the class weather-prophet, has played on the class football team, and makes himself useful to all who are seeking advice. "O. V. T." is also one of those bluffers up in the "Math" Building, who are such good friends of Johnny-O. Otto is a member of $K\Sigma$.

GEORGE NEWTON VINTON. "Vint" was dropped off a fast freight at Woodstock, Conn., quite a while ago, in fact, September 5th, 1885. That makes him nearly old enough to be his own mother-in-law. Connecticut was too slow for George so he moved to Sturbridge, Mass. He graduated from Southbridge High in 1906 and at once packed his carpet bag for M. A. C. Vint is a great rooter and his stentorian tones have been heard at many a class game. He has a tremendous pull with the Agriculture Department, milking 19 cows per sitting. Therefore he has elected Wheat.

RALPH AUGUSTUS WALDRON. This expert mechanic first tooted his horn in North Rochester, Mass., April 28, 1888. But Augustus was too speedy for that town, so he went to Hyde Park, where nothing slow is allowed, graduating from the High School in 1906. In class affairs Ralph is not at all backward, doing good work on our class basketball team. Having musical ability, he plays in the mandolin club and band, and is also a member of the Married Men's Club. Being under the influence of "Billy" Brooks, Ralph elected Agriculture. A member of the Q. T. V. Fraternity.

WILLIAM NEWTON WALLACE. Bill was born in a very quiet village in Connecticut named Machapaque, on June 27, 1885. And from that town inherited most of his tranquility. He moved to Amherst in time to graduate from A. H. S. with Dick and Sumner. He spends his summers in the Adirondacks, where he makes money catching squirrels. He does it by talking nutty to them. Rodney is a Landscaper and is on the executive committee of the Mettawampe Club.

CALISTE GOLDIE ROY. Goldie appeared in Watertown on November 28, 1881, and has since made that spot her home. A graduate of both the Watertown High School and the Fitchburg Normal School, she comes well prepared to compete with her brainy classmates of 1910. The Princess, as Private Secretary to Prof. Hart, is compelled to study Psychology. Quiet and demure as she is, "Calisty" has been spoken to for eating peanuts up in the third story of the "Chem, Lab.". At present she is the only active member of the TRAVELLER, at the foot of some high mountain, glances upward noting the broken paths and jagged rocks obstructing the way.

So it was, when the Board of Editors, a year ago faced the task of compiling the fortieth volume of the Index. But here we are with the top of the mountain almost reached and our work almost over, and as the traveler likewise near the summit, looks backward with mingled feelings of regret and satisfaction, down the path he has mounted so the class of Nineteen-Ten looks back upon its work.

A class book we call this, but we have tried to make it of interest to every man within and each alumnus without. Our purpose has been to make this book as simple as possible. We have made it smaller than those of the last few years, feeling that it is not right to burden a class in a college of our size with a book large enough for one of three times our numbers. Such a book, well balanced, giving importance where importance is due, has been our aim.

Now, kind reader, our success lies with you. But before the Editor lays aside his work he wishes in behalf of 1910 to express their sincere thanks to all those who have in any way contributed to this book.

With this introduction the class of Nineteen-Ten present to you the fortieth volume of the Index, hoping that it may be added to the achievements of the men of M. A. C.

Democracy

When a stranger enters into our portals for the first time, and is shown into the inner court and into the midst of the throng; when he has remained with us for a short time, he will notice that there is a peculiar spirit found here. A spirit which may be found in other colleges to some extent, but nowhere is that spirit so strong or so free as it is at M. A. C. This spirit which we mention is the spirit of Democracy. By Democracy is meant that all men shall have an opportunity to participate in the government; and so it is here except we substitute for the word government the words college affairs. It makes absolutely no difference whether a man has been born in the highest circles or the lowest, or whether he is rich or poor. He is on the same footing with everyone else and has just as great a chance to get on. When a man enters this college he puts away his past, such as family, wealth, etc., and starts out for himself, and it depends upon the man himself whether or not he is going to succeed.

This spirit of democracy should be, yes, must be cherished, because in the first place it makes men. Men who are not afraid to do what is right. Men who will stand up for "a square deal." And men who can be relied upon. These men are just what the country needs; men who are prepared to stand the test, and are ready at an instant's notice. Who, then, can say that this spirit should not be cherished? In the second place, it makes this college stand aloof from all others. Some colleges seem to have forgotten that this is a democratic country, and have made it almost impossible for a man to enter unless he is the son of an alumnus, or else has some influence. But this institution is open to all for it is a state college, and is its leading educational institution, and it is not only a state college but also a national one. Therefore we owe it as a duty to the state and to the national government to foster this spirit of democracy, in order that we may be fitted to become true and loyal citizens.

Let us then go on with this democratic spirit as we have done in the past. Let it not enter only into our own life but also into our publications, games, clubs, and all college exercises. And then we will be free to say that this is a true representative of an American democratic college.

Real Class Spirit

When a new class enters the walls of "Old Mass'chusetts and for the first time takes its place on the roll with the classes which have gone before, it feels in this, the beginning of a new life, an importance which only those who have passed through the same experience and have gone their way along the paths of time can really understand. This feeling of importance is the beginning of a true class spirit, a feeling of loyalty and adoration for their class which is now to start out on a never-to-be-forgotten career. This spirit which has been so quickly aroused first takes the form of a desire for winning. It does not make any particular difference what is won or, in many cases, who is beaten, as long as the class has scored a victory that shall help to make its reputation. And thus it continues during its first year.

But a change soon comes over a class and the sophomore year usually finds a class greatly changed since its preceding year. As second year men their efforts are bent to keep up a reputation made during their freshman year, and to create a marked impression on the entering class that they are to be held in awe for they have passed through the terrible iniquity of being a freshman and are now full-fledged sophomores ready to wield the stick and raise the cry of war against any poor first year man who is caught in their toils. Of course this is only the effervescence of a real class spirit hidden deep down in their hearts, but sometimes acts bordering on rowdyism and unmanliness are apt to creep into their nature; very often, too, they show that with all the knowledge acquired in their one year's residence at M. A. C. they have not yet learned how to take defeat manfully or, that they have not yet discovered that self-sacrificing spirit which puts college before class. Still these are only natural faults and we cannot expect to become perfect at once.

It is to the upperclassman that we look for high ideals and for an example which the lowerclassmen shall follow. He is the man we expect to lead our college on to noble deeds and glorious achievements, and it is to him that we look to train the underclassmen so that they may become even more efficient when it comes their turn to take up the reins which the older men have dropped. The upperclassman, then, feeling this responsibility should be careful of the spirit which he develops and should endeavor to train the underclassmen in the same way.

It is not class spirit to play a man in a class contest when he should be saved for a varsity game. Far better to do without him, even at the cost of defeat when by such an act the college may gain a victory. It is not class spirit to get out and pommel freshmen simply because they are new men, but there is much more credit to the class which picks out those men who need training and which shows those men by manly hazing that their actions will bear changing. That class shows the real spirit. There is far more class spirit shown by that class, which goes out night after night and practises pulling rope, which has every man out whether large or small, even though they suffer defeat, than by the class which wins and with cheering and celebrations produces more effect when it has cost them less effort, labor and personal sacrifice. And so we might go on with numerous examples which would all tend to illustrate the same point, namely, that class spirit is only real and earnest when it has cost something either in the shape of personal sacrifice or hard work, by forgetting petty quarrels or fraternity differences, and by a union of all its members for a better class and a stronger college, and lest we forget we should always bear in mind that we are

"Sons forever of the old Bay State, Loyal sons, loyal sons are we."

"A New Day"

Another and vital step in the growth and advancement of M. A. C. has come to pass. In past years we have had no physical director and there has been no systematic physical training for the student body. The men on the various teams, especially the football team, were the only ones to receive instruction of this kind, and at times not the best, because we had not a man competent to give it. The rest of the students either got out for themselves or got their exercise mostly in the daily routine.

As the college has grown, the need of an athletic director has been felt more and more. There was no means of satisfying the demand for further physical training similar to that given in most colleges. Then, there was no one to push athletics actively except a certain class of students, and their work lay with the various teams. Naturally, things lagged at times, an example being our track sports. For some years we have had no track meets. At that this last spring, the need of a physical director was keenly felt when we surprised ourselves by finding out what really good material we had for a track team, but which could not be developed to best advantage under the then existing conditions. The same has been true of nearly all teams, though we have, for years, turned out exceptionally good ones. There have always been those who did not, for various reasons, enter the existing sports, but who desired gymnasium work. True, we have had drill, but as it has to be carried on here, it is necessarily inadequate and unsatisfactory; for it does not and cannot furnish complete physical training.

President Butterfield's plan is to raise M. A. C.'s standard of gymnastic work and athletics to that of our foot ball and base ball teams. So it is that the new Department of Physical Education and Hygiene has been established. Its object is to interest each man in those sports which he can use in later life as well as now to promote the best physical health of the students by bringing to each the training he most needs.

The work is new as yet, and certain plans are to be worked out. Each man who takes physical training will have a thorough physical examination. Records of this are to be kept, and at the end of the course, another examination will be made to determine results and to find out just how the man's physical condition has improved. To play on college teams one must reach a certain standard in this examination. Gymnasium work according to individual need will be required of each man, and for his exercise that branch of sports most suited to him will be recommended.

This year a gymnasium is to be fitted up in the drill hall. Gymnasium work will go together with drill. It will be required of all who drill. The class of 1912 will be required to take the new physical education courses as well as all classes to follow. In addition, those of the three higher classes who drill must take a certain amount of gymnasium work. It is to be optional to any not taking drill.

The first incumbent in this new department is Dr. Percy L. Reynolds, our professor of Hygiene and Physical Culture. He is a graduate of Springfield Training School and of Georgia Medical College. He has spent two years at the University of Maine, where he has had remarkable success in organizing athletic contests in the student body. He is an all-round athlete, and an especially strong man in track sports. The impression he has made upon the students during the short time he has been here is of the best.

The future of athletics and physical training at M. A. C. is bright. Dr. Reynolds' work is not yet on a firm basis, but is rapidly being established. The track team has been started by this fall's cross country runs. Soccer football has been brought before us. A handicap tennis tournament open to all has been held. And, again, Dr. Reynolds has been a great help on the football field this season.

The new department's work will bring everyone into some branch of sports. It will develop to best advantage all of our material and give us better athletes on our teams. This will bring greatly added interest to such activities. It will create some much-needed spirit. To do this, Dr. Reynolds will put in his best work. And we of the student body must stand ready to do our share, for Dr. Reynolds will certainly push things if which he has done already is any sign. A new day for M. A. C. sports is dawning.

The Song and Cheer Situation

It is my endeavor to set forth what I consider the condition of the singing and cheering proposition at M. A. C., and in what respects it may be improved.

It is a noticeable fact that there is seldom developed at technical colleges that degree of efficiency in singing which is to be witnessed at the classical colleges in general. In our own case there seems to be too much of the practical atmosphere pervading this college. We do not give enough time and thought to the enjoyment and patronage of efforts along the line of music and kindred arts. One cannot but admit, however, that in the past few years great strides in the right direction have been made, and it is with optimistic eyes that we look ahead into the near future when conditions will be more favorable to the development of better singing and cheering.

At present the conditions are not ideal for the best development of a strong singing and cheering contingent. Last year with great effort on the part of the cheer leaders fine spirit was aroused at the approach of the Amherst game, and we had, no doubt, some of the best singing and cheering that we have heard for some time. This year, however, we were handicapped by not having a game with Amherst, a game which we have been accustomed to look forward to, and at which it was our pride to make as good a showing as possible. With no game with Amherst, interest was cut in two, and with reason.

Moreover, the two games which we did have on the home grounds were not our best games, and one cannot expect to arouse over the games we expect to win the enthusiasm which would be aroused were these home games with teams more of our match.

The disadvantage of having so few and only the poorer games on the home grounds may lead some to ask the reason for this. The answer is plain. We have no athletic field and cannot afford to bring the big teams up here to play, as we could easily do had we an enclosed field. This then is the prime cause and though my object is not a plea for an athletic field, I assert that the best in the singing and cheering line cannot be attained here until we obtain an athletic field, with bleachers so that we can have the fellows together in a cheering section. One more point,—at the games held on the campus it is difficult for the leaders to hold the fellows in a bunch, as they should be in order to be most effective. With bleachers every man could see without moving and the cheering section could be handled more easily.

Having shown some of the disadvantages of the present conditions, we should suggest some means by which conditions could be improved. First and of prime importance is the need of an athletic field, and if I mistake not we will have here at M. A. C. just the sort of field we have been striving for for a long time. Then alumni, trustees and student body, I claim that there will be no reason why we should not have some real live cheering and singing at the games.

I should not fail at this time to say that we are somewhat deficient in number and variety of songs. We have our "Sons of Old Mass'chusetts" and a few others, but we need more good live songs, typical of old "Aggie." I take this opportunity to call upon the alumni and student body to make a strong effort and send along to the cheer leader some new songs and some new cheers,—we need both.

In concluding I reiterate, we need more songs, we need more cheers, we need a special rival, we need more live, stiff games on the home grounds and last and of greatest importance we need an enclosed field. Then I say, with a large cheering section these old hills will echo and reecho with our songs and cheers.
